FINAL GAME NOTES – Runner-up in 1992, Flint-Northwestern completed an unbeaten season with the Class A state title. It took a steal by Nicole Massey, who drove the length of the court to score with 14 seconds to play, to give Northwestern the championship. Northwestern scored the last six points of the game. The win made Coach Tonya Edwards the first individual to ever play for and coach the same school to MHSAA girls basketball state titles. Edwards was a standout on Northwestern teams which won championships in 1983 and 1984. It was Northwestern’s third title overall.
